

With 22 nominations given to their films "El Niño", " Ocho Apellidos Vascos " and "Carmina and Amen"

Telecinco Cinema, is the producer with the most Goya Nominations

- "El Niño", the second highest grossing film of the year, has attracted 16 nominations, among which are those of Best Film, Best Director, Best Male Newcomer (Jesus Castro), Best Actor (Eduard Fernández) and Best Supporting Actress (Barbara Lennie) and Best Original Screenplay
- The box office phenomenon " Ocho apellidos vascos ", which became the most successful Spanish film in history, has received five nominations, including Best Male Newcomer (Dani Rovira), Best Supporting Actor (Karra Elejalde) , Best Supporting Actress (Carmen Machi), Best Original Song and Best Cinematography
- "Carmina and Amen," directed by Paco León, has been nominated for Best Female Newcomer (Yolanda Ramos)
- Telecinco Cinema has closed 2014 with the best results ever with 12 million viewers and 60% of Spanish cinema box office in 2014

The applause and warmth of the spectators, are what has led Telecinco Cinema to achieve the best results at the box office in its history, the film subsidiary of Mediaset España has begun to add to the critical acclaim, becoming the producer with the largest number of nominations at the 29th edition of the Goya Awards with 22 nominations divided among three of the films released during the year: "El Niño" with 16, "Ocho apellidos vascos", with five, and "Carmina and Amen" with one.

Directed by Daniel Monzón and starring Luis Tosar and Jesus Castro, "El Niño", is the second highest grossing film of 2014 and registered in the Top 20 of the most watched Spanish films in history, it has received 16 nominations, among which the Best Picture, Best Director, Best Male Newcomer (Jesus Castro), Best Supporting Actor (Eduard Fernández), Best Supporting Actress (Barbara Lennie) and Best Original Screenplay.

“Ocho apellidos vascos”, has reached the status of a phenomenon of the film industry by becoming the highest grossing Spanish film in history and the second highest grossing in our country, second only to the 3D Hollywood blockbuster "Avatar", it has received five nominations. Among the nominations granted by scholars to the film directed by Emilio Martínez Lázaro and starring Dani Rovira, Clara Lago, Karra Elejalde and Carmen Machi, are Best Male Newcomer (Dani Rovira), Best Supporting Actor (Karra Elejalde) and Best Supporting Actress (Carmen Machi).

Finally, "Carmina and Amen," directed by Paco León and starring Carmina Barrios and María León, are also represented in the awards ceremony with a nomination for Best Female Newcomer, which went to Yolanda Ramos.

List of Nominations

These are the 22 nominations received by “El Niño”, “Ocho Apellidos Vascos” and “Carmina y Amén”, competing for the statuettes in the ceremony that will take place on February 7th:

EI NIÑO

- Best Director
- Best Picture
- Best Male Newcomer (Jesus Castro)
- Best Supporting Actor (Eduard Fernández)
- Best Supporting Actress (Barbara Lennie)
- Best Original Screenplay
- Best Production
- Best cinematography
- Best Special Effects
- Best Make Up & Hair
- Best Costume Design
- Best Art Direction
- Best Sound
- Best Editing
- Best Original Song
- Best Original Score

OCHO APELLIDOS VASCOS

- Best Male Newcomer (Dani Rovira)
- Best Supporting Actor (Karra Elejalde)
- Best Supporting Actress (Carmen Machi)
- Best Original Song
- Best Cinematography

CARMINA Y AMÉN

- Best Female Newcomer (Yolanda Ramos)

2014: the best results in the history of Telecinco Cinema

Telecinco Cinema has concluded 2014 achieving the best results ever “Ocho Apellidos Vascos”, “El Niño”, “Carmina y Amén” and “Perdona si te llamo amor”, are the four productions of the cinematographic subsidiary of Mediaset España which have been released during the year, they have accumulated a total of 76 million Euros, which translates into 59.8% of the total Spanish cinema box office, which has recorded the best figures in its history with more than 127 million Euros, according to an in house report based on the data from Rentrak TOP 20.

“Ocho Apellidos Vascos” (56M € and 9,474,233 viewers) has made history in Spanish cinema this year becoming the highest grossing film in Spain and the second highest of our country with regards to takings, second only to the 3D Hollywood blockbuster "Avatar".

Meanwhile, "El Niño" (16,2M € and 2,720,085 viewers) has been ranked second in the box office in 2014, also entering in at number 13 in the Top 20 of the highest grossing Spanish films in Spanish history. Furthermore, "Carmina and Amen" (1.9M € and 380,015 viewers) and “Perdona si te llamo amor” (2M € and 366,944 viewers) have completed this successful year for Telecinco Cinema with two million Euros of revenue each.

With a total revenue of 127 million Euros, the Spanish film celebrates the best year ever, surpassing the 2012 record of 119.9 million Euros thanks to the excellent contribution which was also made by Telecinco Cinema with "Lo Imposible" and "Las Aventuras de Tadeo Jones".

“El Niño” is produced by Ikiru Films and Vaca Films for Telecinco Cinema with the participation of Mediaset España, CANAL +, ONO, Rosp Corunna and Canal Sur and distributed by Hispanic Foxfilm.

“Ocho apellidos vascos” is produced by Lazona, Kowalski Films and Snow Films A.I.E. for Telecinco Cinema, with the collaboration of ETB and CANAL +. It is distributed by Universal Pictures International Spain.

“Carmina y Amén”, produced by Andy Joke and Telecinco Cinema involving Mediaset España and CANAL + and distributed by A Contracorriente Films.

GABINETE DE PRENSA

MEDIASETespaña.

@mediasetcom

/mediasetesp

www.mediaset.es/mediasetcom