Mediaset España signs multi-year output agreement with Amazon MGM Studios to strengthen its film offering with major new releases and iconic franchises

Project Hail Mary, Masters of the Universe, The Sheep Detectives and The Beekeeper 2, are among the titles set to air across the Group's channels and platforms during the first year of the agreement. The partnership will also bring legendary MGM library franchises, including James Bond, Tomb Raider and The Hobbit trilogy, to Mediaset España's content offering.

Mediaset España and Amazon MGM Studios have signed a multi-year output agreement covering feature films for broadcast across the company's free-to-air television channels and streaming platforms, Mediaset Infinity and Infinity+. This is the first output deal the studio has done since Amazon acquired MGM.

"For many years, our relationship with Amazon has been nothing short of exceptional, and this new partnership takes it one step further. Through this agreement, Mediaset España secures an outstanding lineup of first-run and library feature films from one of Hollywood's most prolific and creative studios. We can't wait for our audiences to enjoy them", said Ghislain Barrois, Director of the Film, Fiction, Rights and Distribution Division at Mediaset España.

"Mediaset España has been an exceptional partner for us over the years", said Paul Bischoff, head of Worldwide TV Distribution at Amazon MGM Studios. "This new output agreement deepens that collaboration and demonstrates the strength of our upcoming film slate and MGM library".

The agreement provides access to Amazon MGM Studios' recent and upcoming feature film slate, including both theatrical and streaming films, as well as a broad selection of premium library titles. The first year of the agreement will include titles such as Project Hail Mary, Masters of the Universe, The Sheep Detectives, The Beekeeper 2 and Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan: Ghost War.

In addition, the agreement includes access to some of the most iconic film franchises in the MGM library, including James Bond, Tomb Raider and The Hobbit trilogy.
